Casa de Esperanza de los Niños – the House of Hope for Children – is a safe place for children in crisis due to abuse, neglect or the effects of HIV. Casa de Esperanza provides residential care, and coordinates medical and psychological services according to the needs of each child.

A TRIBUTE TO BILL JONES

A Lifetime of Dedication

The story of Casa de Esperanza began in 1982 when Bill Jones, a specialist in infant and child development at Hermann Hospital, joined Kathy Foster to establish a licensed foster home to care for children who were at risk from abuse. They started with almost nothing. But a small group of determined friends and a $500 donation from an attorney who believed in their mission allowed them to rent the Winbern house—a place that was the beginning of Casa de Esperanza’s journey. The house was affordable because it was run down and had been badly damaged by a crack cocaine fire. With the help of the Houston community, repairs were made. Casa de Esperanza operated out of the Winbern house for eight years. There, in that first house, the neighbors seemed to watch over the house and the people who were taking care of children in crisis. (Con’t)

“A Nights without sleep, thoughtful work, a steady disposition, common sense supplemented by empathy and knowledge, are the hallmarks of Bill Jones.” – JAY RODGERS
Partly by necessity and partly by design, Bill and Kathy started out small. Improvisation—from plumbing to programs—was key to their slow but steady growth.

“Bill was always in the trenches doing whatever was necessary for the children of Casa de Esperanza. …The glass was always half full and filling for Bill.” — LONNIE BLANCHARD

The mission expanded. Individuals, churches, foundations, corporations and other organizations joined the cause and provided funding. Casa de Esperanza acquired more houses throughout the Third Ward and more volunteers and staff helped to care for the children. Bill and Kathy developed programs to supplement the residential care: developmental and psychological therapy for the children; a medical clinic; foster and adoptive families; support for families when their children returned.

Now, instead of individual houses scattered throughout the Houston area, Casa de Esperanza has built a secure neighborhood with well-built homes, landscaping and common play area. This was made possible by the donation of the land, a dream of what it could be and a community that made a dream of HOPE come true.

In the words of his co-workers: Susan Blanchard, one of the early volunteers who has stayed close to Casa de Esperanza over the years, recounts her introduction to Casa de Esperanza and goes on to describe Bill.

“I was lucky enough to find Casa de Esperanza in late 1982 just a few weeks after they moved into the house on Winbern. I responded to an article in the Houston newspaper in the section where agencies post for volunteers. I had just completed my Bachelor of Science in social work at Sam Houston State University. Driving up to that old house, I thought that surely this is not the right place. Children? Babies? Little did I know that I would not only fall in love with everyone, adults and children who lived there, that I myself would be living there one day! In the next year I did move into the house and then later just down the street. We did not have much in those days but it was wonderful.

“Bill Jones is an incredible decision maker, a man who sparks action and a shining star who has a lot of magic. If you’ve been to Casa de Esperanza, you’ve seen that magic in action.

He has an easygoing charm and very quick wit...a wit that helps the most exhausted Casa de Esperanza worker go farther, faster, higher, more...always more.

“My favorite thoughts of Bill are with a baby or young child either being held, usually being fed or comforted.”

A professional member of the Casa de Esperanza staff, who has been there from almost the beginning, has written about the qualities that have made Bill so effective in his work with children: “When I think of Bill – what consistently draws my deepest respect, admiration and frankly awe – is the fact that at any moment, in any circumstance, he can immediately and totally focus on the needs of a child. Obviously, that is a skill everyone here at Casa de Esperanza strives to develop. But Bill seems to do it with such incredible ease. It appears that for him there simply could not possibly be any other way to act. Further, his perceptions about a child’s needs are consistently accurate and he can do all of this without denying, distorting or in any way diminishing the realities of the circumstances at hand – no matter how harsh, frightening or seemingly hopeless.

I cannot possibly recount the number of times I have seen Bill go to a child with the genuine offer of anything and everything he has. In that moment saying to the child you are far more important than you know and asking what can I do to help you believe that you are worthy of being loved and protected.

Love and the courage to love. One lesson that Casa de Esperanza has taught and teaches all foster/adoptive parents is that it takes far more courage than anyone ever expects to love children who society has failed to keep safe. Courage is mandatory.”

Bill has always had a strong feeling of HOPE for the Casa de Esperanza children. He uses the analogy drawn by Casa de Esperanza’s psychologist, Ronnie Koehn, of a person who has lost a leg. The leg will always be gone but the person is given the means to adapt—and adapt well. In the same way, Casa de Esperanza’s children have experienced losses that can never be regained, but Casa de Esperanza gives the children all the physical, emotional, psychological and medical care that allows them to adapt. Perhaps, above all else, Casa de Esperanza makes the children feel safe.

Bill adopted four boys and now his family extends to grandchildren. Bill is retiring, but he still has his Casa de Esperanza family in every sense.
Casa de Esperanza continues to meet the needs of clients that were effected by Hurricane Harvey, as well as increasing our capacity to help families that need to place their children in our Residential Program while they recover. Casa de Esperanza’s families that receive services after a child returns home and the birth parents that have placed children in our care were most impacted by the storm. To date, we have assisted 87 families with needs including monies for rent and utilities, food, clothing, and other needed supplies. We know that for many families, recovery will be ongoing, and we hope to be able to provide this additional support to our families for up to one full year, if needed. Many do not have any family support, and the majority of our clients look to Casa de Esperanza for guidance and help, and we become their family support system.

Here is a story of one of the many families we are helping. This is a family of seven including a mother, father and five children. Their home was badly flooded during the storm, and they had to move to a friend’s place temporarily. All the children and the mother suffer with severe asthma. Although the landlord said repairs could be made, there was a great amount of black mold, making it dangerous for them to continue to live in the home. The mother also has many medical conditions including severe arthritis and diabetes which she struggles to control while trying to make the best life for their children. The father could not work for two weeks due to Hurricane Harvey, and they did not have the money for the deposit on a new rental home. Casa de Esperanza paid the deposit so they could move into a new home before the children went back to school. The Aftercare Caseworker also scheduled an appointment for them at the Houston Furniture Bank which provided them with new beds and other furniture to replace what they lost in the flood. They are immensely grateful for our help, but as with other families, ongoing help is necessary to ensure their stability as they continue to recover from the devastating impact of the storm.

Casa de Esperanza’s history of providing residential care and comprehensive services for young children who are in crisis enabled us to quickly respond to the needs of children left homeless by the hurricane.

We are thankful for the generosity and strong spirit of the community and the support for those in need during the early recovery stage. In the aftermath of this disaster, our mission to care for the most vulnerable children and families of our community is more important than ever.
Team Casa de Esperanza was thrilled to participate in the Run Houston - University of Houston 5K, 10K, and Kids 1K for the second year in a row! We were lucky to have a corporate sponsor this year, Tellurian. With their strong support and the other members of the team, we raised $10,000 to support the children of Casa de Esperanza.

Team Tellurian running for Casa de Esperanza recruited company employees to join the race and raised almost $8,000! Thank you all for running through Reason2Race.

Over the past couple of years, m Strategic partners has been an integral supporter of Casa de Esperanza, especially planning activities in the Casa Neighborhood, interacting with the children and planning special events. We have cultivated a very special partnership with them through volunteering, helping with our Holiday Giving and gathering basic needs donations.

On September 27th m Strategic Partners hosted a Cars and Clays Sporting Clay Shoot benefitting Casa de Esperanza. The event was a “blast” and raised over $30,000. Participants enjoyed a morning showcasing classic cars, and a special forces S.W.A.T team and vehicle were there! A silent auction and an awesome raffle kept the competition going off the course. Trophies were awarded for the best all-around shooters and teams.

m Strategic Partners also honored first responders and gave a “shout out” to them for their tireless work during Hurricane Harvey.

m Strategic Partners will be honored at our April 22, 2018 gala as the Corporate Volunteer of the Year! It is an honor to honor you!

The Moore Family became involved with Casa de Esperanza right after it started in 1982 when our mother, Janet, was looking for an activity after the youngest of her seven children went to college. Our mother was one of the first volunteers at Casa de Esperanza and her initial job was to hold and care for the babies. Later, our mother worked every day in the Casa de Esperanza office, handling the books and the busy office. Our father, Jimmie, was involved from early on too. First, with odd projects and later he teamed up with his good friend, Tim Knott, and built and maintained a large flower and vegetable garden on the newly acquired Almeda property.

Casa de Esperanza does a wonderful job of fulfilling its mission to help families in crisis and children in need. Casa de Esperanza has been a tradition in our family for as long as we can remember. Our parents made many good friends during their years of Casa service – particularly Kathy and Bill – and they instilled in us a love and genuine appreciation for the mission. Our parents were proud to be a part of the Casa family. All of the Moore children, their spouses and several grandchildren have served the organization in different ways and we proudly say that Casa de Esperanza is one of our favorite charities.

The Moore children thank Casa de Esperanza for honoring our parents and for allowing us to be a part of this great tradition. The Moore Family congratulates Casa de Esperanza on its tremendous success since 1982 and we pray, with continued involvement from all, Casa de Esperanza will continue to tirelessly assist families and children in need for generations to come.

Thank you to our friends and family for joining us in supporting this worthy cause; and a special thanks to the Casa de Esperanza staff and Cordúa Restaurants for making this event a wonderful success.

VOLUNTEERS

Our weekly volunteers are like our extended family; they know what we need and they do what we can’t when we need it most. Our group volunteers provide the valuable energy and support, while also demonstrating to our children that there are positive role models in the world.

“Casa has made me a better person, and for this I am grateful. When I arrive at the home where I volunteer and ring the doorbell, I am greeted by joyful children, I am filled up with love. This is the gift Casa has given me since 1991. Bill Jones and Kathy Foster, as well as many others who are a part of the organization, remind me of what Mr. Rogers said many years ago. “Look for the helpers, you will always find people who are helping”. Is it not surprising he heard this from his mother?”

– RITA WEARDEN

“As with all volunteer opportunities, my first instinct was to serve; but always, always I received more than I could possibly give. Reading, playing, building, and especially laughing with the children brings me great joy and allows me to feel free to do those activities which I enjoyed as a child. Kathy Foster and Bill Jones, and the staff they have assembled, have invested themselves heart and soul into the Casa mission of caring for these special children. I am in awe of their passion and perseverance. So many children need care like Casa provides and fortunate, indeed, are those children who make it to Casa.”

The Hands of Hope Interns competed in the 3rd Annual Casa de Esperanza Neighborhood Chicken Cook-off. The only requirement they had to follow was they had to use the chickens that were donated by the N-KAHOOT$ Poultry Committee from the Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo, led by one of our Advisory Board members, Thomas Fleissner. Since 2012, N-KAHOOT$ has been supporting Casa de Esperanza and we estimate that over 3,500 chickens have been donated!

Tom was able to corral great judges for the event, including: Tom Mach, Director of the Poultry Auction Committee; Casey Jones, D’Anna Jones, Sue Bremner, Mitzi Fleissner and Tony Canales from Telemundo Houston! The judges were tasked with judging each dish based on taste, texture, presentation, and creativity. Great prizes were awarded for first, second, and third places, and the Hands of Hope Interns dished up some spectacular creations!

Tom also surprised the children by having “The King” from the Texas Renaissance Festival make a guest appearance. The children loved meeting His Royal Highness, watch him juggle and he presented them all with gifts – His Highness also announced all the winners of the cook off!

showing a child the difference and impact she can make in her community through donations, volunteer service, getting others involved and earning money through her own work and efforts is one child’s goal. Lily is very excited about this endeavor and her role as the co-leader of THE LILY PROJECT. She is reaching out to other children and families to assist her with helping our community. Lily is also working to earn her own money by babysitting and serving as a “hostess” at the restaurant where her dad works for this project! She and her friends have additionally built a lemonade stand where 100% of the proceeds will go to a variety of charities in Houston. Money isn’t the only way you can help. Time, volunteering with us, donating drinks or baked goods, or helping us start new charity projects are needed and welcomed!

Lily, what an inspiration you are! We hope others will follow your lead!
